When you want to dig deeper into the quality of your brand, content or DJ's, Brand Support iFocus gives you answers to many crucial questions for the success of your radio station.

Find out what the audience really thinks

Your DJs might think they are funny. Your production might love the new sound elements. And you might be excited about the latest on-air promotion. But how do listeners perceive these things? iFocus will give you clear answers to those questions and get your team 'out of the bubble'!

Ideal for optimizing the format execution

You've done the strategic surveys and know what you have to do. iFocus helps you to identify where your execution is not being perceived by the audience in the way you want it to!

What is iFocus?

iFocus is our unique tool where we have paired classic focus groups with the Real-Time-Response (RTR) content testing. RTR helps us to ask smarter questions and make the insight you get from focus groups even better.

FOCUS GROUP

From 6 to 10 carefully selected listeners are guided through the discussion about your program. You get deep insight into how listeners perceive your program, what they notice, love or hate.

RTR

During the focus group participants will listen to audios and give us second-by-second feedback with our iPod RTR tool to the quality of your content.
